

Matrix, Inc. is a privately-held company founded in 2010 by Matrix Industrial Group, specializing in innovative materials-based technology for applications in Nanotechnology and Biotechnology. It is a professional biotech company comprised of experienced professionals including executives, physicians, scientists and technical managers. All have a minimum of ten years in their particular disciplines. In addition, those in the medical or scientific disciplines have in senior executive or managerial positions. All have been in charge of or held major positions in public or private companies, startup companies, hospitals, physician practices, major research laboratories, development and manufacturing operations, regulatory and clinical research groups, or health care delivery organizations. We can provide professionals who have both practical and theoretical knowledge augmented by extensive experience. All are accustomed to problem or situation analysis, decision making, and implementation of recommended solutions.

Matrix, Inc. has a manufacturing facility, a quality control laboratory, a research and development laboratory and a warehouse space. The company is an international registered manufacturer with a quality system that is in compliance with the Quality System Regulations and certified to European ISO.

The management team and all employees are committed to the manufacture of high quality products in various fields of sciences and technology. Matrix's innovative scientific research is evidenced by its success in receiving numerous research grants from various international funding. Since the Company's inception, large amount of investment has been awarded to Matrix.

Matrix's members are very innovative, highly active, energetic individual, enthusiasm, highly motivated outstanding individual, wide range of research knowledge and interests aim to work on the frontier of Science and Engineering to create innovative advanced technology.